DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 26-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Matsen, III et al. (5,154,717)

Matsen, III et al. disclose the claimed invention including a bridge 52 attachable to a patient and a surgical robot 54 mounted on the bridge via a slide 50, 85 (see, e.g., Figs. 3 and 4, Abstract, lines 1-7, col. 1, lines 5-15, and col. 4, lines 62-68). The bridge is at least capable of moving in space as one unit with movement of the patient, such that the movement does not affect the position of the robot relative to the patient (id.). The bridge is attached to the patient via wire 126 and/or clamp 76 (see, e.g., Figs. 4 and 6). With regard to statements of intended use with a vertebra and other functional statements, they do not impose any structural limitations on the claims distinguishable over the applied art, which is capable of being used as claimed if one so desires. In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). Furthermore, the law of anticipation does not require that the reference “teach” what the subject patent teaches, but rather it is only necessary that the claims under attack “read on” something in the reference. Kalman v. Kimberly Clark Corp., 218 USPQ 781 (CCPA 1983). Furthermore, the manner in which a device is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 42-46 are allowable over the prior art of record.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the previously pending claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new claims and new ground(s) of rejection.
